

Biography

MS. NARUPAT AMORNKOSIT
Secretary-General
Office of the Energy Regulatory Commission

Ms. Narupat AMORNKOSIT received her Master Degree in Economics (English Language Program) from Thammasat University, Bangkok, Thailand in 1989 and another Master Degree in Economics from Queen's University at Kingston, Ontario, Canada in 1993.

She began her career as a Director of Power Division of Energy Policy and Planning Office, Ministry of Energy in 2003 and moved to the Office of the Energy Regulatory Commission (OERC), acting as a Deputy Secretary-General in 2009. In 2014, she has been appointed to the position of Secretary-General of the OERC.

Since 2014, Ms. AMORNKOSIT has been taking a leading role in regulating Thailand's energy industry according to the objectives of the Energy Industry Act 2007. Her authority and duties are to drive and push forward energy industry regulation to be accomplished with efficiency, modernity, transparency, fairness, and accountability. Also, she has continuously forged ahead with the upgrading the standards of contracts on power service provision in order to protect the rights of retail power consumers. Moreover, she has aimed to emphasized and pushed forward projects pursuant to the government policy so that the implementation of the OERC's strategic plan would be in the same direction in response to the driving mechanism of the country with "Security, Prosperity, and Sustainability"